Forecast For Northwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Thursday 23 Sep 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Cloudy and breezy with the occasional outbreak of light rain.

This Evening and Tonight:
Any remaining patchy light rain will clear through the evening to give a largely dry night, with some clear spells developing. Cloud then begins to thicken again into the early hours, with some accompanying patchy light rain. Breezy. Minimum temperature 10 deg C (50 deg F).

Friday:
Staying cloudy through Friday with the occasional outbreak of light rain continuing through the day. Breezy, particularly towards the coast. Maximum temperature 21 deg C (70 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Scattered showers and sunny spells on Saturday and Sunday, before a band of rain arrives in the early hours of Monday. Scattered showers and sunny spells continuing once this clears.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.